

FIRE BREATHING DRAGON

You will need:

- toilet roll tube
- red/yellow/orange/white tissue paper
- glue stick
- paint, or coloured paper, or felt-tips, or coloured pencils, or crayons
- craft pom-poms
- paper
- scissors

How to make your Fire Breathing Dragon:

1. Paint your toilet roll tube the colour you want your dragon to be - I chose green and red, but you can choose whichever colours you wish. If you don't have paints then colour the tube with coloured pencils or felt-tips, or even cover with a piece of coloured paper.

2. When the paint or glue is dry, add the eyes and nostrils to the top of the roll - use the pom-poms as the eyes. It is good to have eyes which are prominent and 3d – you can draw and cut out the pupils from paper and stick them onto the pom poms.
3. For the nostrils you can either use scrunched up tissue paper or, if you have them, smaller pom-poms – it doesn't matter which you choose.

4. To create the fire coming out of the dragon's mouth you need to glue strips of red/orange/yellow/white tissue paper around the inside of the tube (nose end), but NOT all around, just the upper half of the tube.

5. Let the glue dry. Your fire-breathing dragon is now complete! To make it breathe fire blow through the tube (eyes end) and see the flames shoot out of its mouth!!
